

at least two application devices that act upon the at least two brake shoes during braking operation,